Total YES /17

This is just a brief quiz and the total can and does tell you the potential of danger you are in to further harm including death. However, if you answered YES to even one of these questions you need to speak with a professional. Sometimes, the one you said yes to for your particular situation it may be more significant than what it shows.

Our staff are trained in threat assessment and risk management. We also work with a large network of professionals to assist with your safety planning and needs.

Remember: The best predictor in domestic homicide cases is when the women says I fear for my safety. However, many women minimize their risk because they want to protect the person from people thinking or doing something to them. This may be a very kind way of thinking but if you are a woman who is in an abusive relationship your kindness may harm you in the long run.
